

Our Specialities

Pediatric Injuries

Atlas specializes in treating pediatric sports injuries. Our therapists have extensive knowledge and experience in the unique treatment of children to get them back to activities and out of pain. Atlas uses an array of manual techniques and functional exercises that makes physical therapy fun and effective. After they are back playing, Atlas can begin a sports performance program to get them better than before their injury. The therapists have played sports at the same competitive level, so they understand the importance of getting children back on the field quickly at their peak level. Contact Atlas today to get your children feeling better.
